Grow your Unit – Bring a Buddy

Designate a Den or Pack Meeting as a Bring a Buddy Recruitment. Peer-to-Peer cards are available at the Council Service Centers. Note the Date, Location and Time on the back of the Peer-to-Peer Cards. Also fill in the name and position of the contact person such as the Den Leader or Cubmaster or Committee Chair or New Member Coordinator.

At your next meeting, give each Cub Family a card. Ask them to use the card to invite a Cub-age friend who is not currently involved in Scouting to attend the meeting listed on the invitation. Ask the current Cub’s parent to contact the parent of the invited child to confirm the invitation. When planning the designated meeting, leaders should include a simple introduction activity to welcome the invited children and have information available for the new parents to explain Scouting and the Den/Pack program. Provide joining information and applications to those who wish to join. Collect applications and submit as quickly as possible to the Council Service Center with the registration and insurance fees.

Designate a Patrol or Troop Meeting as a Bring a Buddy Recruitment. Peer-to-Peer cards are available at the Council Service Centers. Note the Date, Location and Time on the back of the Peer-to-Peer Cards. Also fill in the name and position of the contact person such as the Scout Master or Committee Chair or New Member Coordinator.

At your next meeting, give each Scout a card. Ask them to use the card to invite a Scouts BSA-age friend who is not currently involved in Scouting to attend the meeting listed on the invitation. Ask the current Scout’s parent to contact the parent of the invited youth to confirm the invitation. When planning the designated meeting, leaders should include a simple introduction activity to welcome the invited youth and have information available for the new parents to explain Scouting and the Troop program. Provide joining information and applications to those who wish to join. Collect applications and submit as quickly as possible to the Council Service Center with the registration and insurance fees.